ON FOUNDER'S DAY 2nd FEBRUARY, 1948

We live in difficult times but difficulties perhaps come to test one's mettle. All of you who are studying are our future hopes. We want to look up to you with pride because you have to shoulder the future responsibilities of our country. I am a great believer in the future greatness of India and I wish you all to share this greatness happily."

H.H. MAHARAJADHIRAJ YADAVINDRA SINGH

THE FOUNDATION

The genesis of YPS, as a matter of fact, lies in the Aitchison College, Lahore (the only Public School in Pre-Partition Punjab), and it plays a great role in the making of our school.

Aitchison was a college not for all, but only for scions of princes, lords and aristocrats, His Highness the late Maharajadhiraj Yadavindra Singh of Patiala, from whose august name this school derives its significance, was too a student of this college and later a member of its Board of Governors. He was against restrictions in admission of boys to Aitchison College and had an idea of opening a public school at Patiala which would be open to all, irrespective of caste, creed or colour.

August 1947 came, the time which witnessed the worst bloodshed of the era. The parents of the boys from Patiala and His Highness' own contemporaries appealed to His Highness to give shape to his old idea of starting a public school in Patiala. The generous, bountiful and benign ruler of Patiala, who had always taken keen interest in the education of the youth of this country, promptly agreed.

On 11th October, 1947, the late Rai Bahadur Dhani Ram Kapila, one of the old teachers of His Highness and the Headmaster of Aitchison College, was brought to Patiala from Ludhiana under military escort. On 12th October, a six member committee was appointed to explore the possibilities of founding the public school in Patiala.

On 30th October, 1947, the Maharaja of Patiala, members of the Committee and departmental heads visited the stadium and Exhibition Grounds to select the site for the school and for a temporary building for the boarding house. The Yadavindra Stadium was made available for classrooms and Bhupindra Kothi for the boarding house.

On 2nd February, 1948, the school started functioning with a meagre strength of 21 students and 9 teachers, with Rai Bahadur Dhani Ram Kapila as the Principal. The school was an improvement on Aitchison College in that there was no social restriction on the admission of students. Anyone without any prejudice to race, belief or faith could join the school.

In 1950, YPS attended the India Public Schools' Conference and was elected a member of the Conference. The same year some personal reasons led to Rai Bahadur Dhani Ram Kapila relinquishing his charge of the school Principal. On 18th September, 1950, Lt. Col. Frank Von Goldstein took over as the second Principal of the school. From a small beginning the school continued to grow steadily; and now it had more boys on the rolls than there was room for, with still more clamouring for admission.

In 1954, the school was made co-educational; with the number of students still increasing, the school had to build more accommodation and increase the number of playing fields. The existing boarding house facilities were expanded and a third boarding house was opened in 1953. In 1957, His Highness the Maharaja of Patiala placed Lal Bagh at our disposal. For playing fields, we leveled the areas between the boarding houses and the stadium.

Renovated, refurbished and embellished the school now presents an attractive look. After facing difficulties with courage and confidence for over 70 years, YPS has now established it self as one of the leading public schools in the country.

The school crest bears the motto, "VIDYA VINAY VEERTA" - WISDOM, HUMILITY, VALOUR. The school pays a lot of attention to character building and sports activities as part of education.

In 1973, the school celebrated its Silver Jubilee. There were 550 students on roll with 40 teachers on strength. At its Golden Jubilee, in 1998, it had maintained its growth, with over 1500 and 100 faculty members, while progressing towards excellence in all fields of education.

The year 2018 saw YPS, Patiala celebrating its platinum jubilee at the completion of its 75 glorious years.

THE HOUSE SYSTEM

Every student at YPS belongs to a House and it is central to his/her life at school. We believe that every individual should have the opportunity to flourish in a safe, secure and happy environment, so that, whilst making the transition to adulthood, boys and girls can take advantage of the wealth of opportunities on offer here at YPS.

The pastoral care provided is designed to do this in a friendly atmosphere, encouraging the students to be responsible, courteous, tolerant and supportive of a team of Housemaster and a team of tutors. Every student therefore has access to adults within the House (in addition to the Counseling and School Medical services) to whom he/she can turn for support and advice whenever required.

The students, boarders as well as day scholars, are divided into three Houses namely Mohindra House, Dhani Ram House and Phulkian House.

The boarders reside in the comfortable environs of a three –storeyed residential block fitted with modern state –of- the –art amenities such as mechanized kitchen , bakery and launderette , a central dining hall and air –conditioned dormitories. Girls and junior children live separately in the Girls' Boarding House and the Holding

House, respectively .

Effective pastoral care is tendered to the boarder residents to ensure a balanced and harmonious growth of their minds and bodies under the care , supervision and vigil of the staff .

A resident House Matron looks after the boarders' hygiene, clothing and other requirements in each house while the House Masters look after the administrative matters, discipline and closely monitor the overall progress of each child in the House. The House Incharges monitor the participation of the students in Inter-House Activities.

A tutor also interacts with a group of children under his/her care and observes their participation in various activities of the school and takes note of their academic progress. Students are associated with the running of the House by their appointments as House Captains and Prefects.

Students are encouraged to indulge in healthy competition, take pride in doing their own work and grow into mature, independent and self confident individuals. Boarders follow a time-tabled routine, beginning with morning PT, followed by normal school, evening games and supervised prep/study hours.
